

Welcome to YANDINA

The oldest surveyed town
in the Maroochy District, Sunshine Coast

Visiting Yandina

The historic town of Yandina in the hinterland of the Sunshine Coast is a hidden gem where you'll find a wide range of activities and attractions.

Our town is surrounded by natural bushland beauty filled with native plants, birds and animals.

You can bush walk, horse ride, mountain bike ride, canoe or kayak down the river, enjoy a picnic or just stare at the stars.

You can also visit our famous Saturday Markets, bargain hunt in our fabulous shops and explore the local cafes, art galleries and town precinct.

Given its location on the Maroochy River and the main route north from Brisbane, Yandina was once destined to become the major centre in the Sunshine Coast region. However, Nambour became the main town of the district and Yandina remained as a thriving town dedicated to servicing the local farming community.

The Sunshine Coast has been occupied by indigenous people for thousands of years and the Yandina area was the home of the Gubbi Gubbi people.

In 1842 Governor Gipps of NSW proclaimed the district north of Moreton Bay and south of the Maroochy River, off limits to timber cutters and squatters. This was reversed in 1860 by the Queensland Government to open up the area for European settlement. The region became famous for timber, cattle and small crops with cane and fruit growing coming later.

The town of Yandina (originally called Native Dog Flat and Maroochy) was first settled in 1868 and gazetted in 1870.

Yandina boasts a rich European history starting out as a logging town, then a farming district before becoming what it is today, a growing town that takes pride in retaining its many historic buildings while forging an identity as a great place for families and visitors.

The town services the local population and has an array of boutiques, cafes, craft and specialty shops.

The word Yandina is of Aboriginal origin and means "to go on foot" (yan, go; dinna, on foot). The name was first used in the Yandina Creek area in connection with the ancient Bora Rings and tribal grounds. Of Yugarabul origin the word indicates that Aborigines from other areas were visitors. The Skyring Brothers used the name for the Yandina Cattle Run in 1853. Many local sites and attractions retain their original indigenous names.

Yandina Markets

Yandina Markets are on every Saturday from 7am - 12pm.

Established in 1990, specialising in plants, local produce, second-hand items and gourmet foods.

Yandina Community Gardens

Yandina Community Gardens Inc. (YCG) is a membership-based community group dedicated to providing education and practical experiences in Permaculture Design Principles.

YCG and "The Blue House" is a volunteer-run learning environment for Permaculture gardening.

It was established for the community to gain practical skills in growing their own food and also features an old Queensland weatherboard house which has been retrofitted to demonstrate practical solutions to changing your home to be more sustainable.

As you approach the town from the Bruce Highway you will come across our Human Sundial (one of only three in the Country).

To tell the time you stand at the month shown on the path. Your shadow will point towards the time. The hours are marked on the wall. The Sundial is adjacent to Yandina's Historic House, Art Gallery and Museum.

Drop in for a cuppa and scones before continuing on to the Ginger Factory, Pioneer Coffee Roastery and Nutworks. Behind these attractions is part of Yandina's industrial area.

Pick up a copy of the Historic Trail map before you leave the Historic House.

Mountain Bike Riding

Ride through eucalypt forest and rainforest, past rocky platforms, steep gorges and trickling creeks on purpose-built mountain bike trails.

Mount Ninderry Trail

Mount Ninderry is a beautiful track with great views of the Sunshine Coast, Yandina and the surrounding countryside.

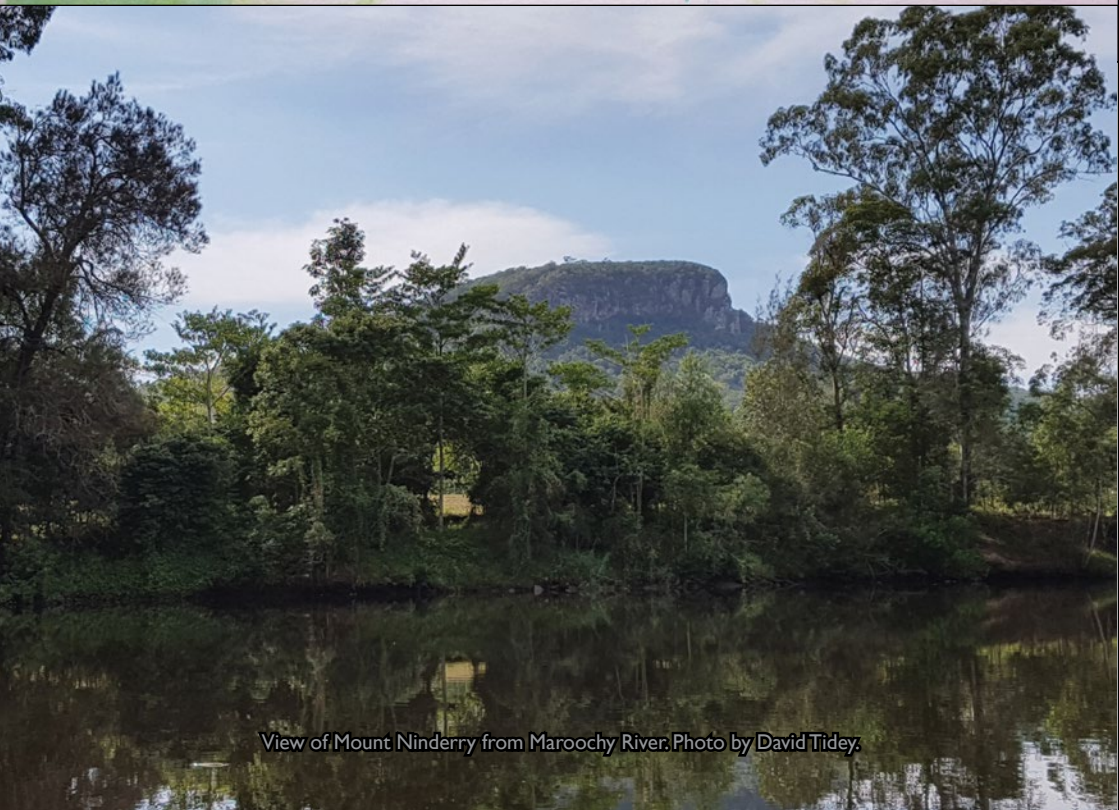

The Mt Ninderry summit trail is considered to be a Grade 3 Australian Walking Track, suitable for most ages and fitness levels.

The summit trail ascends just over one hundred and thirty metres from the car park and can be achieved with a moderate level of fitness. It makes for a peaceful, enjoyable walk.

On your way up, try to spot the monkey in the rock face.

The path is about 1.4 kms and although the sign warns it's a 3-hour round trip, most people do it in 1.5 hours.

Follow the signs from the end of Ninderry Road.
